STABBED BY A BEGGAR.

Serious Assault Upon a Brooklyn Banker by a Mendicant.

New York, May 19 .- John Englis, President of the Wallabout Bank, of Brooklyn, was seriously stabbed in the neck this morning by a beggar. His assailant was arrested. He told the police that he was Chester Daly, twenty-one years old, and had no home. The cause of the stabbing is not clear, but from the story told by Daly and from what the police could learn from the eyewitness of the assault, it appeared that the beggar either was actuated by a spirit of revenge or else had made a mistake as to the identity of his victim. Mr. Englis, who is sixty-four years old, is well known in Brooklyn as a banker and a retired ship builder.

It was while Mr. Englis was in the act of bearding a Vandardill.
